Dave Balza is in his sixth season as head men's basketball coach at Florida Gulf Coast University. In May of 2001, Balza was selected from over 200 candidates to be the program's first basketball coach. FGCU celebrated its first academic year in 1997, started athletics in 2000 and became an official NCAA Division II program in 2004. Balza has been tabbed with a new challenge now, bringing FGCU to NCAA Division I and competing in the Atlantic Sun Conference.

The Eagles just completed a tremendous regular season in their final year as a Division II independent. FGCU won a school record 27 games and ran off a 14 game winning streak and finished the year winning 19 of their last 20 games. The Eagles led NCAA Division II in rebounding for the second time under Balza. The 2006-07 squad also earned a reputation as one of the top defensive teams in the country. The Eagles held opponents to 39% from the floor and finished among the nations leaders in field goal percentage defense, scoring defense and steals per game.

Balza's teams are renowned for playing an exciting, up-tempo, hard-nosed basketball. His FGCU teams have recorded a combine 114-39 record (.745 winning percentage) in the first five years of competition. In that time, the Eagles have averaged 78 points per game, have outscored the opposition by 12 points per game, and have won an average of 22.8 games per season.

Balza's squads have also excelled on the defensive end, holding the opposition to just over 40% from the field and forcing nearly 18 turnovers per contest. FGCU has also posted a rebounding margin of nearly 10 rebounds per game better than the opposition over a four-year span. In 2004-05, FGCU posted the best rebounding margin in NCAA Division II (+10.2).

Balza guided the Eagles to a berth in the NCAA Division II Championship Tournament in 2004-05, their first year eligible for post-season selection, after posting a 24-7 mark, the most wins in the program's short history.

Balza has preached of "building a first class tradition" since taking the reigns at Florida Gulf Coast University. He has molded the Eagles into a model program for integrity on the basketball floor, in the classroom, and in the community. Academic success and community involvement are just as important to Balza as on-court preparation. His Eagles have never had a semester team G.P.A below a

2.70 and have hovered at or above a 3.0 cumulative G.P.A. for most of his tenure. In addition, Balza's teams have been very active in the community, helping the athletics program reach more than 10,000 youngsters in Southwest Florida through events such as: Eagle Reading, Eagle Math, Community Reach Out Program, Habitat for Humanity, Hoops for the Heart, visits to hospitals, and volunteering at the Ronald McDonald House.
